DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Esch et al.

Esch discloses the claimed invention, including inhibiting combustion in selected cylinders in response to startup/warm-up. Sensors are provided as claimed, as rpm, temperature, coolant temperature, etc. are monitored, and used as basis for controlling cylinder inhibit on startup. Both fuel and ignition are deprived.

The controller of Esch functions as claimed.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Esch et al.

The number of throttle bodies provided is an obvious choice of design, well within the level of skill of the ordinary routineer working in the art at the time of the invention.

5. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Uchino et al. in view of Esch et al.

Art Unit: 3617

Uchino et al. Discloses the field of the invention, including a small watercraft, with engine and water-jet propulsion unit. A catalyst is provided. Uchino et al. Fails to disclose an electronic control as claimed.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide Uchino with a combustion controller as taught by Esch.

Such a combination would have been desirable at the time the invention was made so as to provide quick warm-up of the catalyst.

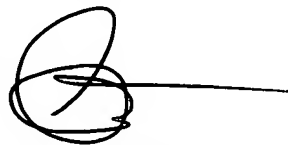

6. Claim 14 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
